The Insurer Challenge

Insurers need an efficient way to create and deliver personalized, consistent, omnichannel policyholder communications from within PolicyCenter for high-volume, on demand and interactive environments.

The Solution: OpenText Exstream

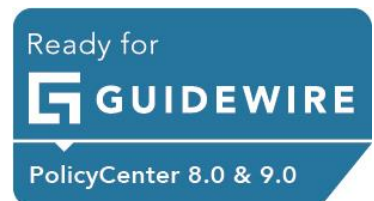

Insurers use Exstream to create consistent, compliant, personalized communications from within an insurer's core administration systems: underwriting, policy issuance, billing, and claims management. It helps users leverage customer data within InsuranceSuite to generate omni-channel policyholder communications such as quotes, policy contracts and renewals, declaration pages, and dynamic multi-line policy statements.

Solution Benefits

- Enterprise-class, omnichannel customer communications from within core insurance systems, available on public or private clouds or on prem from same code base.
- Faster time to market with new services and products
- Optimize customer touchpoints across all channels for frictionless engagement
- Reduce operational costs, streamline business processes, ideal for high-volume
- Easily meet changing government regulations and jurisdiction requirements in policyholder communications

Integration Benefits

- Access to true enterprise-class customer communications from core policy system
- Validated accelerators that provide samples for review to enable customization based on the customers' implementation of Guidewire. Speeds time to integration.
- Seamless user experience when generating interactive documents (from within Guidewire UI)
