Solution Overview

Challenge

Adjusters spend too much time drafting letters manually, copying policy language, formatting documents, and chasing approvals. The process is slow, fragmented, and admin-heavy. Inconsistencies hurt the policyholder experience and weaken legal defensibility. Operations teams also spend hours maintaining brittle templates that require constant updates. The workflow is inefficient and difficult to scale.

Solution

Kyber replaces ad hoc workflows and outdated CCMs with a single, claims-native platform that connects drafting, review, approval, and delivery. Adjusters receive instant drafts tailored to the policy and claim. Managers can review in real time, suggest edits, and finalize with full version control. Templates update automatically to reflect changes in jurisdictional requirements or internal policies, reducing reliance on IT. Once approved, letters are sent through email, print, or e-sign, with every step tracked and synced back to ClaimCenter for full visibility. The entire process is audit-ready and built to scale across teams, lines of business, and states.

Benefits

- Draft instantly with AI-powered templates that pull in the right policy language and claim details
- Edit collaboratively with built-in approval workflows, version control, and real-time review
- Send securely through email, print, or e-sign with full delivery tracking inside ClaimCenter
- Scale efficiently with dynamic templates and centralized updates that reduce IT dependency
