

AI-powered workflows across the insurance lifecycle

Automate complex workflows from submission to servicing and claims

Feathery is the AI operating and decisioning system for insurance carriers. We automate workflows across submission intake, underwriting, quoting, renewals, servicing, and claims—connecting data, documents, decisions, and actions across your existing systems.

Why insurance teams choose Feathery

Works with your existing stack

Add an AI layer across your existing systems without ripping and replacing core infrastructure.

Faster time to value

Build and adapt workflows quickly, with less engineering effort required to get automation live.

Better underwriting insights

Use more data with context and insights to make better underwriting decisions.

Scale without adding headcount

Automate and standardize workflows to handle more business without adding operational overhead.

Core Workflows Powered by Feathery

Submission Intake & Underwriting

Ingest submissions from any source, extract and structure risk data, identify missing information, and route work for underwriting review.

Quoting & New Business

Move structured data into rating and policy systems and automate downstream quoting and new business workflows.

Renewals & Servicing

Coordinate renewal and servicing workflows across documents, data, and systems to keep policies in force.

Claims

Collect and analyze claims data and documents, surface key information, and route work to the right teams faster.

Meet Robin, Feathery's AI operations assistant

Build and adapt workflows using plain language, then work alongside Robin to surface insights, identify what needs attention, and support decisions.

BUILD

Describe what you need and Robin helps configure the workflow using Feathery's governed building blocks.

ASSIST

Robin works across workflow data, documents, and context to surface insights and help teams move work forward.

150+

native integrations with your existing stack

Policy admin systems • CRMs • Data warehouses • Internal tools • + more

Scan to book a demo

feathery.io

Trusted by leading insurance carriers, MGAs, and speciality providers

